ABOUT TARA JAYE FRANK

As Founder and CEO of TJF Career Modeling LLC, Tara Jaye Frank helps leaders, groups, and companies define their vision and develop strategies to advance their culture and leadership goals.

A sought-after thought leader and writer on cultural intelligence, Tara Jaye has spoken across the country on topics such as vision, inclusion as a business driver, emotional intelligence, and advancing women.

Her first leadership book, Say Yes: A Woman's Guide to Advancing Her Professional Purpose, was written as a practical guide to crafting a career leaders can believe in and achieve.

PHILOSOPHY

Good work gets done with planning and execution. Great work gets done on purpose—the path to higher levels of engagement, and the key to vibrant leadership and breakthrough results.

THOUGHT LEADERSHIP

Consultant. Speaker. Coach. Women's leadership trainer. Multicultural expert. Diversity and inclusion innovator. Creative problem-solver.

EXPERIENCE

People leadership. Brand development. Business management. Change management. Creative product development. Consumer goods. Retail. Multicultural strategy. Innovation.

EXPERTISE

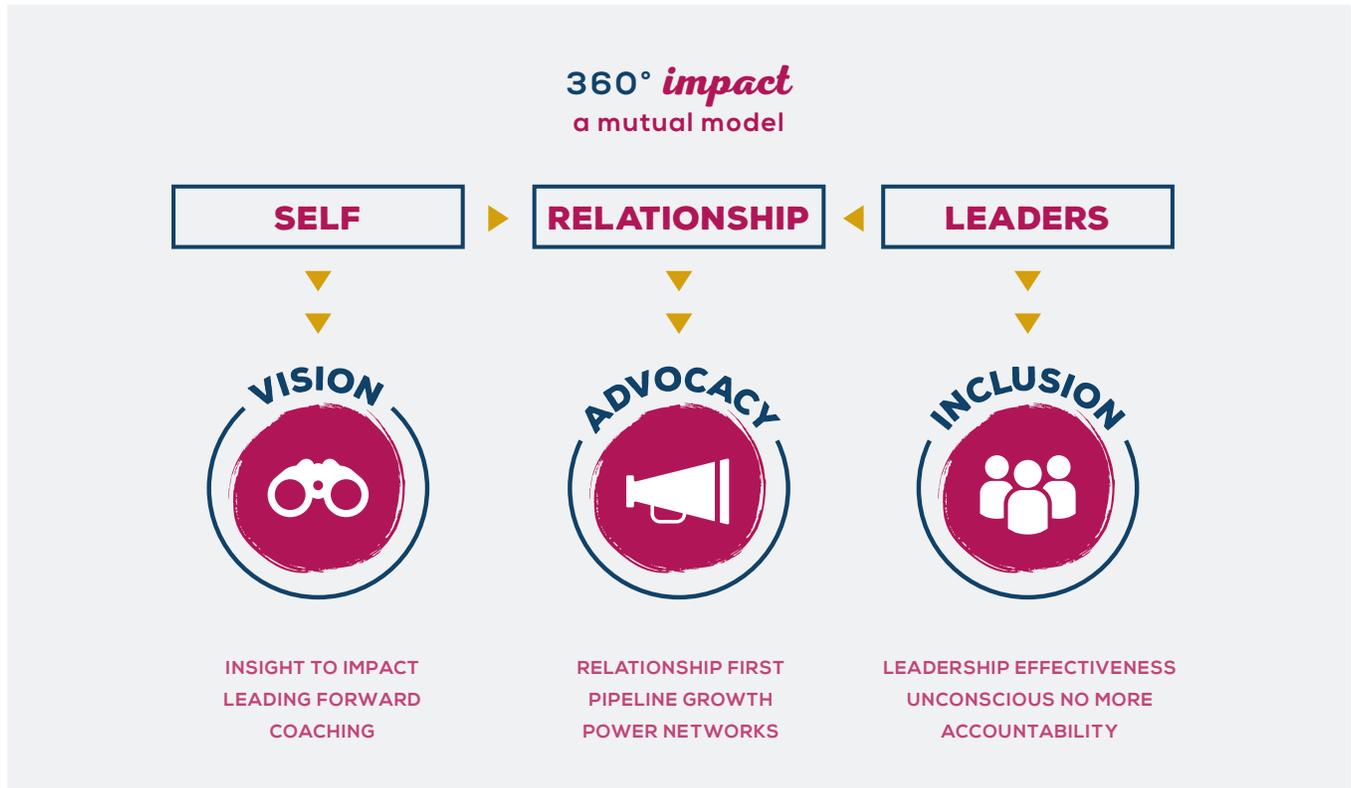

Organizational and experience design. Leadership, team and program development. Content creation and curation. Consumer and marketplace insight. Public speaking and facilitation. Storytelling.

CONSULTING

Customized culture and leadership transformation

Discovering what you stand for. Helping you stand for it. Setting you apart.

Building a vibrant culture where everyone can succeed requires a multi-faceted approach. Leadership development prepares, but can't change a company culture. Culture change makes an environment more supportive, but can't guarantee advocacy. Advocacy drives advancement, but only if people know what they want and the culture is inclusive. Sustainable change begs for a comprehensive approach.
